INDO-CENTRAL ASIA STRATEGIC PARTNERSHIP

A Vision of India's Integrated and Stable Extended Neighbourhood

This book deals with India's relations with Central Asia in the Post-Soviet era. It also highlights common perspective of both sides on certain fundamental issues, such as Islamic fundamentalism, extremism and drug-trafficking which constitute the major threats to regional security, stability and development. The focus in this book is exclusively on the contemporary issues and relations that strengthen the bonds between the two countries. India's Central Asia Policy has acquired a new agency for realignment and securing her extended neighborhood. The Country is eager to play a more proactive economic and political role in this part of the world. Today India is a strategic partner of all Central Asian Countries and security and safety of the region is central to her dynamic interactions. This book is a major contribution to the understanding of India- Central Asia relations in emerging world order and will be highly beneficial for the students of International relations.

Dr. Jaineswar Sethi is presently working as an Assistant Professor (Stage-III) in the Department of Political Science, School of Social Sciences, Ravenshaw University, Cuttack. He did his M.A. from the Centre for Political Studies (CPS), School of Social Sciences, JNU and his M.Phil and Ph.D from the Centre for Russian and Central Asian Studies (CR & CAS), School of International Studies, Jawaharlal Nehru University (JNU), New Delhi. He has already authored six books and attended a number of Workshops, Seminars and Conferences. Also, he has to his credit several papers published in journals of national and international repute. His areas of interests include Central Asian Studies, International Relations, India's Foreign Policy, Indian Constitution, Western and Indian Political Thoughts.
